

At Aviva, we understand the actions you take today can help create a better tomorrow.

We got to take care of each other, just as we're taking care of our customers.

It's why we're giving our customers, working in the NHS free breakdown cover and enhanced home insurance.

Why we're helping customers manage their insurance payments, when the crisis impacts them financially.

And doing all we can to support others using our expertise. And our empathy.

I've been using my volunteering hours recently to make ear savers for the NHS staff and frontline key workers.

We've enabled our people, like me, to return to the NHS frontline on full pay.

And donated thousands of items of PPE equipment and hand sanitiser to critical care services.

While also giving 15 million pounds to NHS Charities Together and the British Red Cross.

We're with you today, for a better tomorrow.
